Marianne LAIGNEAU, EDF Group Senior Executive Vice President in charge of the International division, signed this MoU with Praveer SINHA, CEO of TPDDL. The agreement is an intent and willingness of both companies to jointly work on the areas of (i) smart lighting management, (ii) smart poles, electric vehicle charging infrastructure and other innovative smart grid solutions. As next step, teams from both companies will meet to define a possible business model to jointly work on the coming business tenders on Smart grid in India. The discussions would also define the responsibility matrix and scope of each company to respond to the tenders. Some pilot projects could be jointly executed in innovative & smart grid technologies.
